Bennett tours Pinestone Inn

The Haliburton Highlands were pleased to have the honour of hosting the Honourable Claude Bennett, Minister of Industry and Tourism, and his Deputy Minister, Mr. Jim Flett as they toured the new Pinestone Inn last Monday.

Mr. Bennett's plane landed on Lake Kashagawigamog at about 10:00 a.m., Monday, July 5th. He was greeted on his arrival by Mr. Art Ward, Innkeeper and Mr. Brett Ziefert, Assistant Innkeeper of the Pinestone Inn.

Other guests on hand were Mr. Bob Stinson, Secretary-Manager of the local Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Bryan

Shannon, Executive assistant to Mr. Bennett; Tourism Development Consultants Mr. Peter Hughes (Muskoka) and Mr. Wim Bestwick (Haliburton); Mr. Brian O'Connell and Mr. George Collicie, Regional representatives of the Ministry; Mr. Wren Blair, Mr. Glen Blair and Mr. Jack Davison, officers of the 1-2-1 Corporation.

After the formal introductions Mr. Ward took the Minister's party on a tour of the soon-to-be completed Pinestone Inn. This, without doubt, will be one of the best equipped most modern hostels in the province, let alone the county. Nothing has been overlooked in providing every comfort and convenience for the guests.

Pinestone has already received many reservation requests with the first booking being a sales convention of the Kodak Camera group on July 25th.

The Inn features 36 motel units, large convention facilities, fishing in the lake adjoining the inn, saunas, swimming pool, the most modern in kitchen facilities, and an extremely challenging 9 hole golf course. More attractions are planned for the future.

In time to come the golf course will be expanded to 18 holes and a public picnic area will be added adjacent to Highway #121.

Pinestone will employ about 30 full time people. Many of these will be younger people - the ambitious type that can grow and mature with the business.

Mr. Ward expects the year-round occupancy rate to be about 60%. This is quite good considering the seasonal nature of this type of venture in the Highlands.

The Pinestone Inn property will cover approximately 120 acres and is a most

OPP divers recover body

A fifty year old Georgetown area man has lost his life in the waters of South Beaver Lake in Lutterworth Township.

Dead is Keith Nelson Adams of R.R. #2, Georgetown. The dead man was staying with his wife at their cottage on the lake.

Police say the deceased was fishing from an 11 foot fiberglass boat powered by an electric motor when he fell overboard. The body was recovered by OPP divers, acting Corporal Barry Connelly of the Minden Detachment and Provincial Constable Peck of the Downsview detachment.

The deceased was a non-swimmer.

The Minden OPP would like to thank 2 persons who assisted the police investigation by catching the vacant boat and anchoring it at the location where the drowning occurred. The two boys were also of assistance to the coroner. Dr. Jamieson. These young men saved hours of investigation and diving time by their presence and clear thinking.

Corporal Terry Sneddon and PC Gary Chapman, as the investigating officers, send a sincere thank you to Douglas A. Burmaster, 15, and Brian Burmaster, 13, of Clarkson for their assistance.

Another drowning in Kash.

The waters of Kashagawigamog Lake have claimed the life of a Scarborough man. Dead is 31 year old Melwyn Felix Noronha of Palmdale Crescent.

Investigating officer PC Jim Solway said that the deceased was staying at a local lodge with his wife when the accident occurred.

Mr. Noronha was one of 3 adults and 4 children in a 16 foot fiberglass canoe which upset in about 8-10 feet of water. The accident occurred at about 7:00 p.m., July 3rd. Mr. Noronha was a non-swimmer. He was pronounced dead by Coroner Dr. Harry Good with no inquest planned.

Bicycle rider injured

A 14-year-old Kinmount area boy suffered possible head injuries and facial abrasions Tuesday about 7:50 p.m. when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a car on Highway #121 about two miles south of Kinmount.

Minden OPP said William Sylvester Pearson of RR1, Kinmount, was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay where he was treated and released after having been in a collision with a car driven by Keith William Stata, 28, of Kinmount.

The car received $800 damage while the bicycle received $20 damage.

Police said both vehicles were northbound on Highway 121 when they were in collision as the car tried to pass the bicycle. Provincial Constable Dennis Welsh investigated.

Damage, in boating accident

An early morning boat accident, July 4th, has resulted in $750 damage to an 18 foot boat operated by Robert C. Taylor, 55, of Whitby. The vehicle with a 160 h.p. inboard/outboard motor, was northbound on Little Kennis Lake when the boat struck a submerged log tearing a hole in the hull.

The operator restarted the boat and beached it on the east shore, neighbours, hearing the shouts, rescued the occupants who were all treated at the Haliburton Hospital.

Injured in the accident were the operator, with numerous lacerations, Bernice Taylor, 53, wife of the operator suffered a sprained ankle; James E. Woodcock, 44, of Oshawa, received numerous lacerations and sprained both ankles; Marjory B. Woodcock, 36, also from Oshawa, received lacerations; Reginald W. Broughton, 39, and his daughter, Jayne Linda, 13, received bruises, while Broughton's wife, Sheila, 38, suffered a sprained shoulder. Investigation by PC Jim Martin.

New pharmacy opens its doors

Haliburton residents now have the convenience of a new drug store. With the opening of the new Haliburton Pharmacy, located beside the Medical Centre, county inhabitants will be provided with competitive prices.

As Mr. Carl Silverstein, area supervisor for Jack Austin Drugs stated, "We welcome everyone to our store. We are not here to put anyone out of business, but rather to provide the consumer with a choice. We are making every effort to give the residents of this county a break. Our prices will be as competitive as possible. We want to be a part of the community."

To this end a bright young man has been hired to manage the pharmacy. Mr. Jeff Shute, 19, of Brockville has taken up residence in Haliburton and, in his managerial position, will keep the store running smoothly and tend to the needs of his customers.

Jeff comes to Haliburton after previously working in the pharmaceutical department of the Woolco store in Brockville.

Also joining the staff are the husband and wife team of Gord and Sharon Woolsey. Both are graduate pharmacists, have studied pharmacy at the University of Toronto.

The Woolsey's have moved here from London, Ontario. Sharon was employed at Turner's Drug Store, while Gord was in the employ of the Canadian Apothecary Company for four years.

The community welcomes the new pharmacy into our business life and extends all possible success to Jeff, Gord and Sharon in their new venture.

We are also pleased to report that Mr. Bert Curry will assist the Woolsey's in the pharmacy department and his experience will prove invaluable.

It's music to our ears

It takes those lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer to bring the summer visitors back to the Highlands of Haliburton. Weather conditions over the Dominion Day weekend in most cases were anything but ideal but this didn't stop the people from the city's and towns from coming back to swim in our crystal clear waters and breathe our clean air.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday were really busy days, but people seemed to pick on Friday to come to town. Just to show you what a large crowd was in town on this day, many local citizens said that one would have thought that it was Rotary Carnival night. It was the biggest shopping day in Haliburton's history.

The local merchants were all smiles while the cash registers were hitting up a happy tune. If the economy is bad like we are told and money is scarce one would never know it from the business transacted here last week.

And what about the few who stayed at the cottage and didn't bother to come to town and shop. They were sitting on the beach writing love letters in the sand.

So long for now

In the very near future Mr. John Rouble and his family will be leaving Haliburton to take up residence in Dunnville, Ontario where Mr. Rouble has accepted a responsible position with their local Board of Education.

During his stay in Haliburton, John Rouble as principal of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School always ran a tight ship and the end result was that this school was operated in an orderly fashion and rated as one of the best run schools in Ontario.

At various times during his stay here he was put in the position of making several key decisions and although not always popular they were made in the best interest of the school and the students.

John was not only a good principal at the school and a dedicated family man, but he also took a keen interest in community affairs. He was very active in minor hockey circles having served on most of the committees of the Haliburton Minor Hockey Association and was the recent president of the organization. He spent hours at the local arena helping out by coaching, refereeing and taking a good interest in the boys. Let's not forget that John was the goaltender for the Chalkdusters hockey club.

Among other things John helped out with the CNIB Canvas in the local area and was active on many other committees.

Always willing to serve in the community he was an active member of the Rotary Club of Haliburton having served on the Board of Directors and other committees.

John Rouble is leaving our community to live and work in Dunnville. He will be sadly missed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

My husband and I bought our retirement home on Canning Lake and moved here from Ottawa on December first, 1971. We subscribed to the Echo and found it a source of great help. We read the advertisements to find service for our heating, plumbing and many other needs to help us get settled here.

I have enjoyed the pictures of days gone by as these acquainted me with some history of the area highlands.

The store advertising has led me into a happy shopping experience. We buy locally for all our needs.

I always read our member of Parliament's comments, also the reports of Snowden Council meetings.

Bill Smiley writes very amusing articles of interest. I have attended many concerts as a result of your notices. We stay here all winter and your Echo is like a visitor dropping in on every Thursday to chat and inform us of what is new.

The O.P.P. report is good as I feel it makes us aware of the need to protect our property from vandalism and to obey the safety rules of the road.

The classified ads are a wonderful way of buying and selling. I have been able to dispose of goods that I do not need.

I also enjoy the photographs of sports and social events in the community.

I like the Echo as a good source of area news and social events. The echo has helped me to enjoy this new style of quiet country living.

Yours truly,
Olive J. Riddell,

Dear Sir:

I cannot understand why our former principal has chosen his last commencement speech at H.H.S.S. to lash out at our veterans and the Royal Canadian Legion.

I have never heard a true veteran boast of "forgotten exploits" in "forgotten wars". The people of Haliburton County have done more than their share in sending young people to defend Canada in both World Wars. My own namesake was killed at Vimy Ridge and there is hardly a family in the area who have not lost at least one relative in either conflict. I do not feel that this little man who wears his civilian medals whenever possible and signs himself "J.F. Rouble, S.C." should criticize the true heroes of our country.

Yours sincerely,
Bill Valentine

Congratulations to the Stanhope Fire Department. This energetic group had added yet another valuable piece of equipment to their operation and with it have formed the "Emergency First Response Team". With the help of Dr. Offen of Burlington they have acquired a Yellow Van which is equipped as an ambulance plus a supply of emergency rescue equipment. The vehicle will respond to emergencies and provide interior help until an ambulance from either Haliburton or Minden can take over. With their special rescue equipment they can also provide back up service to the existing ambulance services. Dr. Offen was very impressed with our Stanhope men at the recent Hawk Lake tragedy and offered his assistance in this worthwhile venture.

A very busy opening weekend was experienced by most of our members, particularly in town as the wet weather drove many tourists away from the beaches in search of diversions. The information booths were busy suggesting things to do and see.

We were busy preparing for the visit this week by the Honourable Claude Bennett. It was unfortunate that many of our community representatives could not attend as it happened at a time when everyone is so busy. Full coverage of this visit will be found elsewhere in this paper.

The new branch of Peterboro Lumber is nearing completion at Minden. It is hoped that this will create some new jobs in the area. Such was not the case with the new Brewer's Retail at Haliburton where the staff was all brought in from outside and the Liquor Store in town had to lay-off some of their part time help. We certainly welcome new business ventures in our area, but wherever possible they should improve our employment situation.

We would like to remind you once again that the office is now open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. except when we close at 5 p.m. Please keep the girls informed regarding your vacancies and keep them supplied with your literature.

We're here to help you.

Report from Queen's Park

by John Eakins

M.P.P., Victoria-Haliburton

In mid-June, Murray Gaunt (L. Huron-Bruce) and Ed Good (L. Waterloo North), with two Members of the New Democratic Party attended a Parliamentary Symposium commemorating the Centennial of the Quebec National Assembly. This Symposium was attended by parliamentarians from all the Provinces of Canada, the House of Commons in Ottawa and representatives from England, France and the United States. Under discussion were two major topics: (a) the Member of Parliament - legislator, mediator or ombudsman; and (b) Parliament - the institution and the image it projects.

On these topics a number of different viewpoints were expressed, not only by foreign parliamentarians, but also by members representing the various provinces. It was generally conceded that the role of the Member as a legislator, while most interesting, was not highly visible to the constituent. The point was also made by several delegates that in many instances, hours of debate take place on legislation about which the final outcome is a foregone conclusion.

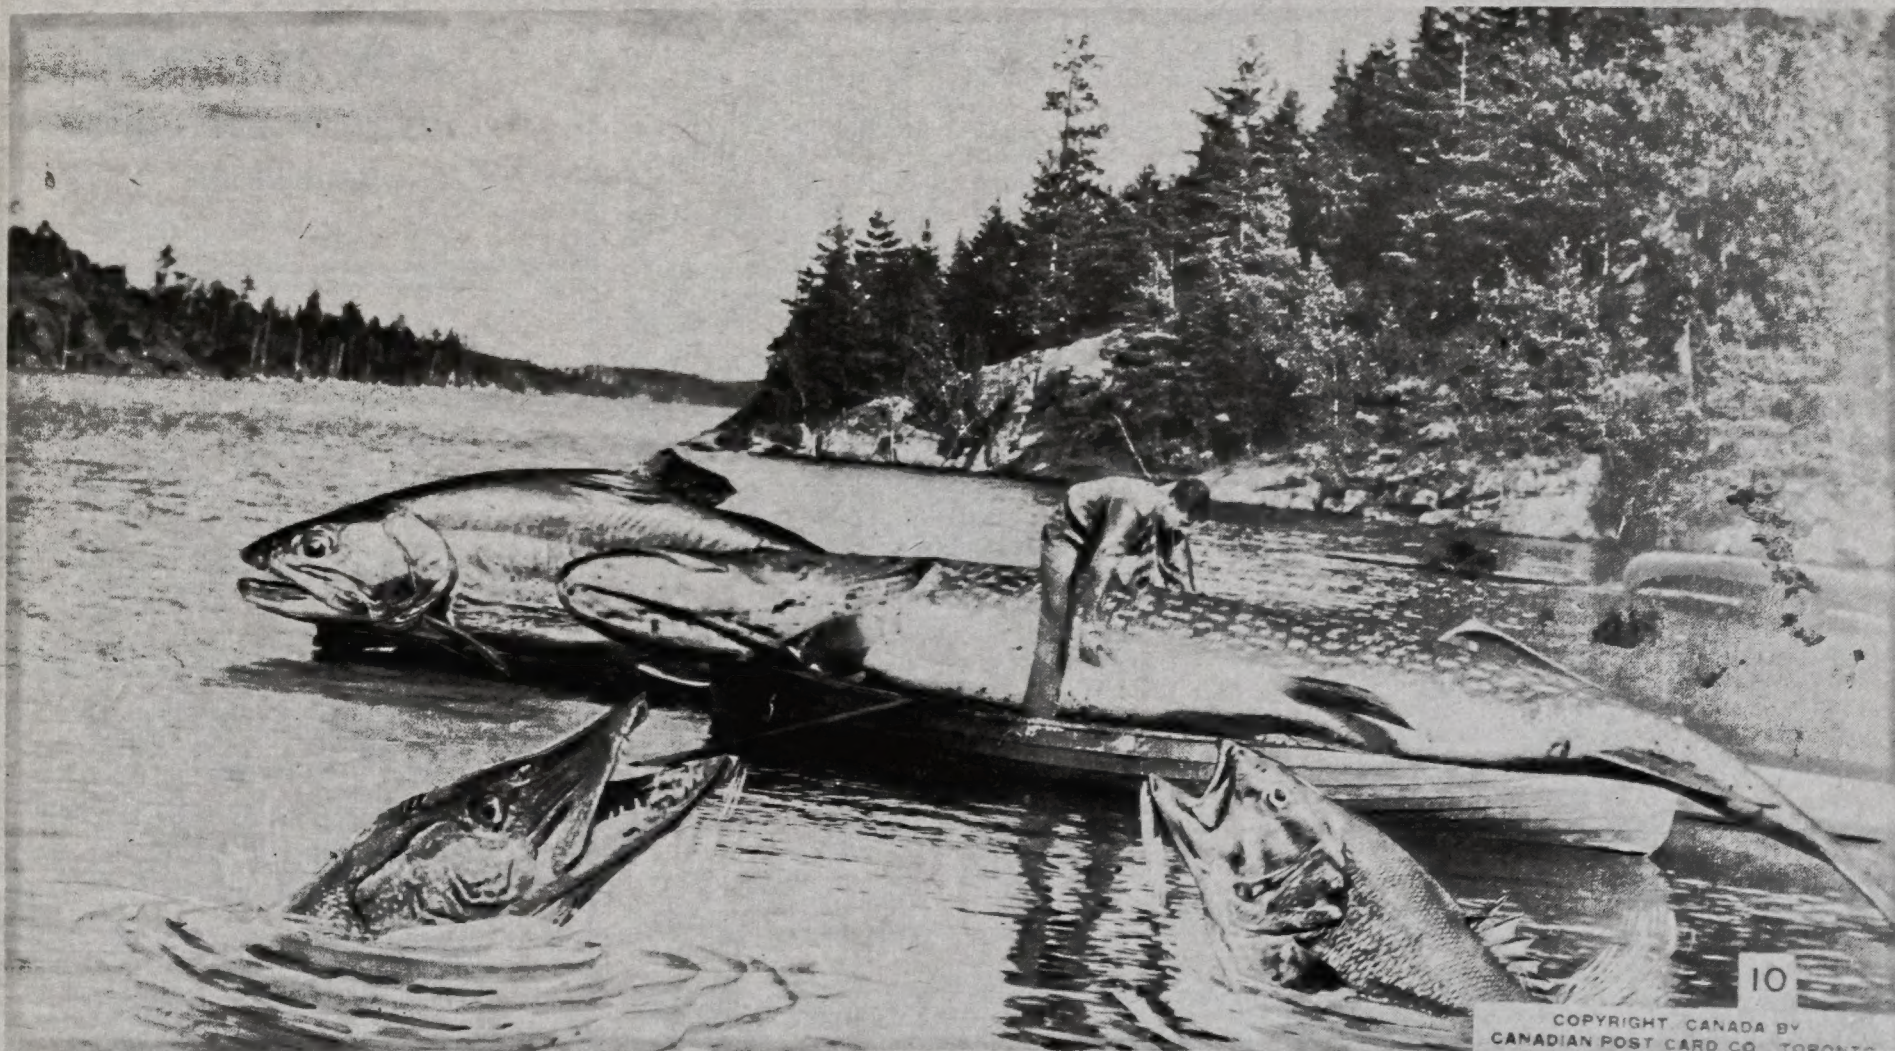

The Government in power brings in legislation, drafted by civil servants, which tends to reflect the views of the government members, and it is the responsibility of opposition members to try to make the public aware of the implications of such legislation. It is, of course, also the responsibility of opposition members to improve, and where necessary, oppose such legislation. In this respect, it was felt that opposition members meet with varying degrees of success, not only in parliaments around the world, but also in the legislatures here in Canada. One of the frustrations of such debate is that the mood of the Minister piloting the Bill through the legislature or parliament is frequently a more important factor than the validity of the amendments in achieving a change in the original legislation.

At the Symposium, the delegates from Ontario represented the only jurisdiction where a minority government exists. Obviously, the role of the legislator is very different and more challenging in these circumstances.

There was general agreement among the delegates that a member's work as a mediator between government and constituent, and also as an ombudsman, is of very great importance. The inability of the public at large to fight a way through government bureaucracy appeared almost universal. It was felt that parliamentarians are progressively being called upon more often to assist those who have problems with government bureaucracy and red tape.

The image of parliaments and parliamentarians was the subject of considerable discussion. American delegates referred to Watergate and other scandals which have been much in the news. Most delegates were in agreement with the idea that the image of parliaments needs to be improved. While the actions and attitude of the news media does have a considerable influence on this image, it was generally felt that in the final analysis the behaviour and conduct of parliamentarians creates the image projected to the public. Some suggestions for improving the image of parliament were the inclusion of television and radio coverage of debates, return to better parliamentary procedure and behaviour within the legislature, and a need for greater communication between government and the people.

While the purpose of the symposium was not necessarily to come up with solutions to problems being experienced by parliamentarians, our delegates believe that the discussions held in Quebec City will almost certainly generate a greater awareness of the responsibilities of elected representatives.

The fishing is excellent in the Highlands of Haliburton, but when you come up this summer, don't expect to haul out the fish as big as shown in the above photo. The fish are big here, but not quite this large.

Our thanks go out to Harry Brohm of Haliburton for supplying us with this photo.

How I began

©The Argyle Syndicate Ltd.

Bill Smiley

HAD a letter this week from a former student who has to present a seminar in a journalism course she's taking. She didn't want much — just how to become a syndicated weekly columnist, and some anecdotes about being editor of a weekly newspaper.

There's no problem about the first one, as I tell the eight or 10 people who write me annually about it. All you have to do is be in the right place at the right time, with the right material. In other words, lucky. A second ingredient is to be cheap. I was both, when this column began to circulate.

I began writing this column when I was editor of a weekly. After a couple of years, I had grown sick of the lack of freedom and creativity in what I was writing. Any damn fool can write a news story, if he gets the facts straight. And many damn fools can and do write editorials, regardless of the facts.

And I was having trouble with the weddings and obituaries I had to churn out.

One searing experience in the weddings department was my assertion, right there in black and white, that the bride and groom had left for a honeymoon in Bermuda wearing a green corduroy suit. I didn't say who was wearing the top, and who the bottom, but my reputation among the mothers of brides was definitely sullied.

Same trouble with the obituaries. I never committed the classic: "The deceased was borne to his final resting place by six old fiends who acted as pallbearers," but I did have my moments.

A line from a wedding would pop into the funeral, and it would come out something like this: "The remains of the deceased, who was in his 78th year, are resting at the Sunset Funeral Home, in a clinging gown of yellow voile, with a garland of white stephanotis and a large bouquet of forget-me-nots." Pretty fancy funeral, what?

I never did get much flack from the deceased, but I sure caught hell from the "survivors," as they were invariably known.

After a series of such setbacks, I decided to start writing a little column in which I didn't have to cope with the dull facts of the news story, the supposed objectivity of the editorial, or the pitfalls of the wedding-obituary quagmire.

Thus began "Sugar and Spice" as it was first named, a humble little corner of the editorial page where one Bill Smiley could spoof the world, needle his wife, damn all politicians, and give vent to his rages. In short, where he could say whatever he wanted, without hiding behind the anonymity of the news story or the editorial "we." (Although that's a pretty slim thing to try to hide behind in a small town, where everybody knows exactly who wrote the editorial, and what's wrong with his head, to have such an opinion).

Anyway, the column caught on, for various reasons. One was that men enjoyed me pointing out how peculiar women are. Another was that women enjoyed me pointing out how stupid men are. Everyone enjoyed me pointing out how abysmally idiotic politicians are.

There were other reasons. I didn't mind calling a spade a ruddy shovel. I didn't mind exposing what an ass I was. I wrote about all the horrible ordeals that ordinary people go through: loved ones dying; music festivals, Christmas. I wrote about parents and children, sailors and legionnaires, grannies and young mothers, farmers and fishermen.

And I had good friends. Notably George Cadogan, still a power in the weekly business in the Maritimes. He urged and encouraged and recommended to friends. Under his exhortations, I gradually changed a ragged column of anecdotes, barbs and personal opinions into a short essay that tried to say something, without seeming to.

Next thing I knew, 88 papers were running my column. Then, of course, the syndicates got interested. They are not, by the way, much interested in beginners, which makes it might tough to break in.

Satisfaction? Oh, yes. Not from writing it. That's hard work. If it weren't, it would be hard reading, and if it was that, it wouldn't be read for long.

But I've had great joy from the knowledge that I've occasionally brought some pleasure, or surcease from pain, to someone. One ancient lady wrote painfully, from her old folks' home bed, that she had laughed until she cried, at one column. A young Canadian woman, in New Zealand, wrote that she'd been in despair, everything black, had read my column in her hometown paper, had laughed aloud, and had realized that God was still in His heaven, if she could laugh.

I won't tell you about the rotten letters I've received. They're few, they're usually bigoted, and they don't bother me.

Now, Mary Graham, journalism student. You want an anecdote from my days as a weekly editor. Here's a true one. How would you cover it, as a reporter?

A man had a fight with his wife, got all drunk up, and told her he was going to commit suicide. She told him to go ahead. He marched out to his car, went roaring off, drove it right off the town dock and into that blackness that waits for all of us. Next morning, they found him. Sound asleep in his car, which had landed on a barge tied up to the dock. His wife had the last six or seven hundred words.

Ontario has highest per capita ownership of life insurance

Since 1960, life insurance ownership in Ontario has increased by 185 per cent while net incomes have advanced by 160 per cent. For the rest of Canada, life insurance ownership has more than doubled while national incomes have risen by 175 per cent.

However, on a per capita basis, residents of Ontario lead those of other provinces in the amount of life insurance owned. The average owned per resident in Ontario is $9,100, in Quebec $8,900, in British Columbia $7,400, in the Prairie provinces $7,200 and in the Atlantic provinces $5,300.

Social Planning Councils hold first area conference

About 30 people participated in the first area conference of social planning councils to be held in this part of Ontario. Delegates from Parry Sound, Midland, Barrie, Alcona Beach, Lindsay, Haliburton and Orillia met at 152 Brant St. E., Orillia, on Sat. June 26, in order to share information about serving the needs of people. Social planning councils are part of the voluntary sector, although those in large cities hire some professional workers, as well.

The event was initiated by the Ontario Welfare Council which sent Mrs. Karen Hill, Planning Associate, to be one of the resource people. The job of organizing the conference was undertaken by members of the Bureau of Social Services of Orillia and District. Although each delegate had considerable experience in voluntary social service work, special mention might be made of: Dr. Nancy Armbrust, Medical Officer of Health, Simcoe County; Mr. Manley Chew, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Barrie; Mr. Don Whelan, Credit Counsellor, Barrie; Mr. Grant Showers, Credit Bureau of Simcoe County (Orillia) Limited; Mrs. Betty Forward, Helping Hands, Orillia; Mrs. Eunice Bulbeck, Information Orillia; Mrs. Peggy Neville, Cancer Society, Haliburton; Mr. Charlie Norris, Family Counsellor, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Lindsay; Mr. Don Roszmann, Mental Health Centre, Penetanguishine; Mrs. Sandy Sarsfield, Parry Sound, District Social Services.

The day stimulated interest in the Ontario Welfare Council, 1240 Bay St., Toronto, another social planning council, which has a Board of Directors composed of volunteers from the community and from different organizations. It gets some funding from government and employs five professional staff members and three secretaries. Committees include ones on aging, day care, housing, municipal social policy and social planning councils. The last committee organizes two annual meetings in Toronto for delegates from the 70 social planning councils in the province. The Council orders appropriate research and the preparation of briefs which it presents to the Provincial Cabinet periodically. Present concerns include the probably plight of senior citizens and low income earners when property taxes rise following assessment on full market value. Another is the serious impact on charitable organizations when, as is also planned, they are required to pay property taxes.

The main object of the meeting was to make personal contact with fellow volunteers in other areas and to learn from each other. However, there was strong support for more preventative measures in social services as an investment that will produce a high yield for everyone, including the taxpayer. Some examples are home help for the disabled, the elderly, those with poor mental health and those not acutely ill; counselling of all types; and education for marriage and for living within a marriage.

Some of the things that the Parry Sound delegates would like for their area are fairly representative of the types of goals sought by volunteers in a community. They are credit counselling, a Volunteer Bureau, and Information Agency, a hostel and housing.

It is expected that a new and continuing chain of communication will be a result of the conference. The balance of about $35.00 from the conference will be donated to Helping Hands, Orillia.

Historical Society Award of Excellence

The Peterborough Historical Society was presented with the Ontario Historical Society Award of Excellence for 1976 on Saturday, June 19 at the annual meeting of the provincial body in St. Catharines.

Receiving the award on behalf of president Mrs. Jean Cole was Mrs. Joyce Lewis, a director of the Peterborough Society. The society was commended for its outstanding work in archival and research programs and historic preservation, and special mention was made of the publication of the Illustrated Historical Atlas of Peterborough County in 1975 and the Hutchison House restoration campaign.

The Historical Atlas commemorates the 150th anniversary of the Peter Robinson immigration to the Peterborough area and is in the style and format of 19th century atlases with 14 1/2" x 17 1/2" pages. As well as a 60,000 word history of Peterborough County, the Atlas contains 150 original drawings plus historical maps.

The Atlas was brought out in the fall and Mrs. Lewis says the numbered autographed edition was sold out by Christmas. Copies of the regular edition are still available.

Hutchison House is located at 270 Brock Street in Peterborough and was the residence of Dr. John Hutchison in the 19th century. When Dr. Hutchison considered moving his large family to Toronto, the citizens built him a new home in 1837 to persuade him to stay. The theme of the Historical Society's campaign has been "built by the citizens restored by the citizens."

The upper rooms of the building will be restored to the 1860's and the main floor and kitchens to the Hutchison period. Renovations are now underway and artifacts and old papers have been discovered lodged in beams and between floors. There are pages from a book containing margin notes written by Dr. Hutchison himself.

The Peterborough Historical Society meets at 8 o'clock in the Centennial Museum on Armour Hill every third Tuesday throughout the winter. The public is welcome to attend meetings if interested in a particular topic or speaker.

Membership in the society is $3.00 a year.

In the line of duty? No way according to PC Bill Clendenning as he proceeds to change a flat tire on his department vehicle. Some prankster thought it would be cool to let the air out of his back tire as he was patrolling inside the Minden arena during the dance Sunday night. If it had been a stranded motorist it would have been okay, but when it's your own vehicle it can become frustrating. But Bill didn't lose his cool. After the tire was changed he continued on in the line of duty.

Despite adequate advance publicity, the dances held in Minden last weekend failed to attract many people.

The Mercey Brothers, a fine country group, played to about 300 people in the Minden arena on Saturday night. The music was good and for those who attended was a most entertaining evening. But for some unforeseen reason the hoped-for large crowd never materialized.

Undaunted, the promoter looked forward to the following evening to pick up the sagging attendance. The headliners Max Webster and Four in Cold Water, were clearly excellent bands, and should attract a large group of the under-thirties crowd.

Indeed, the musicians were superb, and had there been more than the 250 there, the group would have been aptly received.

Unfortunately, last Monday was not a holiday for many people and thus too few holidayers were around to make the dance a financial success. Then again the arena is not too well suited for a concert and perhaps quite a few people feel the same way.

Hopefully the next dance will be better attended so more people can fully appreciate the quality of the music.

Haliburton Highlights

Jim Perrin, postmaster at the Haliburton Post Office has advised the Echo that the Post Office Lobby is once again open 24 hours a day. This is certainly good news.

At one time everyone kept saying that there were very few fish in Head Lake at Haliburton. Well, that was a long time ago, and now the fishing in this Lake in 1976 is tremendous. The proof comes from the many recent photos we have been running in the Echo.

The street lights were off in many parts of town on Sunday night, but they were back in operation on Monday.

Everyone had better start putting money in the parking meters, as it's that time of year again. Michael Scheffee of Haliburton is on the job as the new meter man.

We have just been advised that funding has been approved from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications to complete the Drag River bridge project in Haliburton. Tenders will be let for completion in July or early August.

At the recent Rotary Club of Haliburton picnic. The men's double champs, the new president Art Ward and Lance Easton were thoroughly trounced by the mixed double champs, Barb Dawson and Raymond Langdon.

The Kinsmen Club of Haliburton held their last meeting at the end of June and will now be off on holidays for the months of July and August.

The Road Show Theatre opened on Monday night at the High School before a big audience who turned out, to see the play 'Private Lives'. The plays continue every Monday night starting at 8:30 p.m.

Humor in Court

by S. Armstrong Goff

Proceedings in court often seem dry and dull to the casual onlooker. There are witnesses being asked endless questions and arguments by counsel on intricate points of law. However, there are sometimes flashes of wit which enliven the scene.

On one occasion I recall sitting in court waiting for my case to be called; meanwhile Michael Doyle was proceeding with an application for divorce. It appeared that the application had been begun before on two occasions. These were duly recorded in the documents before the judge. Noting these occurrences the judge addressed Michael Doyle as follows:

"Mr. Doyle, I see this action was commenced before. What happened?"

Reply by Michael Doyle: "The lawyer died."

"Well, Mr. Doyle, I see that this action was in court the second time; what happened?"

Reply again by Michael Doyle the second time: "The lawyer died."

With that the judge looked down at Michael and said: "Well, Mr. Doyle, you have better get on with your case." This was said with a poker face by the judge, but many a grin passed from one lawyer to another. They had visions of Michael collapsing to the floor. They were happy to see that he survived.

On another occasion a young counsel was arguing his first case in the court of Appeal before five judges. One of the judges sitting on the appeal was Mr. Justice Riddell, a very formidable and erudite judge. Visually he was a big powerful man, huge head and bold features.

His heavy eyebrows and half-rim glasses did nothing to soften his general appearance. When he looked at you over the half spectacles and addressed you with his deep sonorous voice one could feel that you were being swallowed in one gulp. This day the young counsel was rather timidly proceeding when Riddell J. looked down at him and said very positively "You have no case." The young counsel still proceeded with his argument and finally Riddell J. looked down at him again and said: "Didn't I tell you half an hour ago? You have no case." The young lawyer drew himself up, deliberately looked at his wrist watch and replied: "Yes, My Lord I heard you forty minutes ago, and since that time I have been addressing my remarks to the other four judges." He won his appeal.

Lord Carson, who at the time, was one of the two leading Barristers in England, was questioning a witness who was known to be proud of the amount of liquor he could hold.

Carson: "Would you be a teetotaler?"

Reply: "Indeed I am not."

Carson: "Would you be a light drinker?"

- "No sir."

Carson: "Would you be a moderate drinker?"

- "I don't think so."

Carson: "Would you be a heavy drinker?"

- "That's my business."

Carson: "And what other business do you have?"

Over 200 people attended the opening night performance of "Private Lives", a comedy play put on by the Road Show Theatre Company, Monday night at the Haliburton High School.

This group is a non-profit organization who are travelling the Muskoka and Haliburton areas putting on light hearted plays this summer.

Tour manager Paul Eichgrun stated that all the people involved were earning enough to live on but were not stashing great hordes of money away.

"We're not here to make a lot of bucks, but rather to provide good, economically reasonable entertainment."

"This is good practical experience and this season we're travelling with three 'apprentice' actors who are funded through Ontario's Experience 76 program."

Of the eight people this writer interviewed after the show, all said they enjoyed the play immensely, stating the acting was very professional and the dialogue distinct.

And indeed it was!

Noel Coward's play, "Private Lives", was very amusing. It presented an extremely funny and memorable evening.

Characters in the play, Elyot and Amanda, once married and now honeymooning with new spouses at the same hotel, meet by chance, reignite the old spark and impulsively elope. Into this situation come their aggrieved spouses. Eventually there is a knock down drag out fight which results in yet another elopement. This unique play had three very successful Broadway runs, and is presented here in a new production starring Paula Barrett, Michele Fansett, Ken Whittaker and Dennis Johnson.

For those who missed Monday night's presentation there will be a repeat performance the first Monday night in August.

This is one of the few chances Haliburton residents have of seeing a live play and it is well worthy of our support.

The next performance is this coming Monday night and the company will be putting on a Muriel Resnik play "Any Wednesday".

This play will certainly be amusing because it is put on in such a professional manner. Let's get out and give these fine people some support as they are most worthy of it.

It will be an evening of fine entertainment. A tip of the proverbial hat to all those involved. Keep up the good work!

Advice issued to users of fabric softeners

The Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs today issued advice to consumers concerning the use of fabric softeners which are sprayed directly into electric clothes-dryer drums.

"Dryers should always be kept free from lint," a spokesman for the department said, "but this is particularly important when spray-on softeners are used." Softeners have a tendency to increase the accumulation of lint, especially when used too liberally. Lint traps should be cleaned after every load and the motor inspected and cleaned at least once a year. Careful and regular cleaning will prevent the build-up of lint which could lead to a dryer fire.

"There is no evidence at the present time to show that the sprays present a fire hazard as long as the instructions on the label are followed carefully and excessive amounts are not used at any one time."

Charges laid after chase investigation concluded

As the result of further investigation into the persons who became involved in a chase with the Minden OPP, PC Roy Telford has charged Gregory John Lemieux, 16, of Scarborough, with Dangerous driving, A passenger in the chase vehicle, George Edward Doolittle, 20, of Toronto has been charged with theft over $200.

Doolittle and Lemieux and two juvenile girls have all been charged with 5 charges each of Break, Enter and Theft, and 2 charges each of break and enter with the intent to steal.

The investigation has resulted in the recovery of vehicles and property valued at over $11,000.

LAKE WATER USERS...

YOUR DRINKING WATER MAY BE UNSAFE.

In Ontario we have taken pure, clean water for granted all our lives. So it's a real shock to realize that we just can't trust untreated drinking water anymore.

With all our lovely lakes and bright, sparkling rivers and deep, cool wells we have to be concerned about invisible little disease-causing bacteria that could be in any untreated water in Ontario.

How can you protect yourself and your family? Can you be sure your drinking water is 100% safe? Yes—with a Super Sterasyl water purifier.

THE SUPER STERASYL WATER PURIFIER GIVES CLEAN, PURE, SAFE DRINKING WATER FOR UNDER $70.

Farm news and views

Concrete is one of the main components of most farm structures today. It is possible to increase the quality and durability of concrete by following a few simple rules on mixing, placing and curing it.

In mixing, the first rule is to keep the water cement ratio down. Adding extra water decreases compressive strength, increases damage due to frost, and increases the permeability of the concrete. Adding water to ready-mixed concrete at the site is the greatest contributor to poor quality concrete. Each extra gallon of water you add to a properly mixed yard of concrete decreases the strength by 200 p.s.i. This detrimental effect continues throughout the life of the concrete. Adding 5 gallons of extra water per cubic yard of 3000 p.s.i. concrete will decrease the strength of the concrete to 2000 p.s.i.

Concrete should be placed within 3 feet of its final location. Properly mixed concrete will not flow and therefore must be placed. Care should be taken to place it without segregation of the aggregates. After placing, vibrators should be used to ensure that the concrete is completely placed around the reinforcement. Too much vibration can cause segregation.

If concrete is allowed to dry out during curing, any increases in its strength cease. Therefore, concrete must be kept moist for at least seven days if it is to develop its full strength.

Temperature is also important. The optimum curing temperature is 60 degrees F. (15.5 degrees C.). At temperatures above 90 degrees F (32.2 C) and below 40 degrees F. (4.4 C.) concrete should not be placed. In cold weather, concrete must be kept above 40 degrees F (4.4 C) if it is to cure and gain strength properly.

Additives such as calcium chloride can be used during cold weather, not as anti-freeze agents, but to speed up the process of curing. With calcium chloride added (2 pounds per 100 pounds of cement), the length of time protection against freezing must be given to the concrete is reduced from seven days to four days. Freezing of concrete within the first seven days greatly reduces the durability of the concrete.

The main rules for obtaining quality concrete are:

1. Do not add extra water.
2. Keep moist for seven days after placing.
3. Keep temperature above 40 degrees F. (4.4 C) for seven days after placing.

FENCING PASTURES
Are you having trouble keeping cattle in your pasture field and out of your crops or your neighbours? Then maybe it's time to build a new fence around your pasture.

We have just received a new booklet from Agriculture Canada called, "Farm Pasture Fencing". It contains a wealth of information on fencing from equipment and materials available, how to build different kinds of fences, to how to maintain the fence after it is up.

So, if fence building is on your agenda, get a copy of this publication from the Lindsay Agricultural Office.

FOREST FIRES IN MAY 1,829

Ottawa- A total of 1,829 forest fires, affecting 315,000 acres, were reported across Canada during the month of May, according to the Canadian Forestry Service.

The figures are compared with 2,181 fires, affecting 58,000 acres during the month of May 1975, and an average of 1,759 fires and 277,000 acres for the same month during the past decade.

To date this season, a total of 2,651 fires has been reported, affecting 364,000 acres of forest.

These statistics are compiled monthly from April to October by Environment Canada's Forest Fire Research Institute in Ottawa.

Stanhope notes

Alex Stevenson

Building permits were issued in Stanhope Township during the first six months of 1976 for construction having a market value of $300,000 and of this amount $200,000 was issued during the month of June. Most of this amount was for permanent residential buildings.

Other projected residential building, if approved by the various authorities involved, would carry the value of new building in Stanhope Township far beyond the $1,000,000 mark.

On the subject of buildings, Clerk Gerald Bain is preparing an application to Wintario for a capital grant towards the cost of the new library building, and if his efforts are successful, as they may well be, there will be news worth passing along re the cost of the new building.

Stanhope Volunteer Firement received another token of appreciation for their efforts in this community when they were presented with a two way radio for the emergency vehicle which they have added to their strength for furthering their service to the community.

Thanks to the efforts of Dr. Offen of Hall's Lake, who spent the day with firemen at the time of the Hawk Lake causeway disaster, and wishing to show his regard for the men and for the risk they took decided to do something for them.

Finding out that the radio was needed he took steps to see that one was provided. Fire Chief Dick Kinsman was deeply appreciative for the gift and we have to agree that this Township has a lot of very fine residents, both permanent and seasonal.

Friends of Mrs. Margaret (Helen) Hickman and her two grandchildren, victims of the Big Hawk Lake culvert collapse, are starting a fund to honor their memory and anyone wishing to support the fund may do so by sending their donation to "The Hickman - Schram Memorial Fund", in care of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Minden, Ont.

Mrs. Hickman was a member of the teaching profession and was noted for her dedication to her work, not only in serving her pupils, but also for her activities with young people outside of her school work.

It is understood that some article of furnishing for the new library would be dedicated to the memory of the victims.

News from Extendicare

by Charles Plewman

THE GOOD SOCIETY TAKES CARE OF THOSE WHO ARE UNABLE TO CARE FOR THEMSELVES

On Monday, June 1st, the Haliburton Scottish Pipe Band regaled the Residents with their marching, music and dancing. The first dance was a rather long one and must have tired the feet of the dancers, to say nothing of the lungs of the pipers. Our own versatile Nurse, Mrs. Norma Williamson, joined in the second dance and displayed considerable ability. Mr. C.F. Plewman, on behalf of the well attended gathering, thanked the entertainers for a very interesting program.

Canada Day was gaily celebrated with a musical Jam Session. Jake Gill operated the record player, and Judy Bedford did the singing and dancing. Judy was in good fettle and had the residents laughing and forgetting their problems. They have been supplied with tambourines and moroccos and really went to town. Judy also reports that they would like to see more girls out at the Tuesday baseball games. They are held at the Senior Elementary School at 7:00 p.m. Players do not have to be members of the Extendicare Staff. If you are not in shape - its the thing to do. If you are, come for a rollicking good time.

Extendicare Conference was held at Niagara-On-The-Lake, June 21st - 23rd. One of the principal speakers was Mrs. Elain Baillie, of the Ministry of Health who spoke on the subject of reality motivation and activities for the daily living of Residents. Plans are underway to bring Mrs. Baillie here for a conference with staff members. Dr. Virginia Stone, of Duke University, North Carolina, spoke on the attitude and management for Residents of Nursing Homes.

Our Devotional Service on Friday was led by the Rev. Trevor Denny, of the Anglican Parish of Haliburton. he said, "that we should fear not for the future, but live a day at a time, and that God's love surrounded us."

After 4 or 5 days of rain, the Residents were glad to sit outside on Sunday.

Mrs. Miriam Lewis has been missed during the past week due to a death in her family. The Residents extend to her their deepest sympathy.

Bill Clattenburg left on Saturday for further treatment. He was very useful around here and will be sorriely missed. Best Wishes, Bill.

"I wonder if the human touch which some people have, is not one of the greatest assets you can have. You meet some people and immediately you feel the warmth of mind and heart. You read a book, sit before a performance of a fine actor or read a poem and there it is - something that streams into your consciousness. The nurse in the hospital, the man who delivers you mail, the clerk behind the counter or the effective minister. Without this human touch, hope has little on which to feed or thrive."

Both the Kimble and O'Brien vehicles sustained $700 damage each, while the Burridge truck received $20 damage. The accident occurred Sunday, July, 4 at about 8:10 p.m. Investigation by PC Boyd Jarvis.

Minister visits

welcome addition to the economy of our county.

Mr. Jack Davison, Pinestone's golf pro, gave the Minister a briefing on the golf course he helped to design. In the words of Jack's fellow pros, the Pinestone course is one of the most challenging, professional courses they have seen. Jack concurred with this statement and then proceeded to show everyone exactly why he is the pro. His only drive was a 'meagre' 285 yards. Mr. Bennett then drove a ball, which, although not as far, was just as straight and true.

Mr. Bennett, when interviewed, stated that the Government of Ontario had, to this date, lent the 1-2-1 Corporation about $695,000 and he felt certain it was a good investment. The Minister was most pleased with the progress of construction at this time.

Following the tour the Minister's party to Mr. Foggs restaurant in Carnarvon for a buffet lunch, presentation of briefs and general discussion on several topics.

Chamber presents brief to Bennett

The recent visit of the Honourable Mr. Claude Bennett, Minister of Industry and Tourism gave local politicians a chance to air their opinions of matters concerning Bennett's portfolio.

After a business luncheon held at Mr. Foggs restaurant in Carnarvon, Mr. Bob Stinson, Secretary-Manager of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, presented a brief to Mr. Bennett on the general state of the tourism industry.

Tourism industry, Provincial aid and the feasibility of small industry in the Highlands of Haliburton.

Of particular importance to Mr. Stinson was the omission of many Haliburton County resort, lodge and motel/hotel operations from some of the Ministry's promotional publications.

In response Mr. Bennett stated that there could be many reasons for this faux pas.

"We're certainly not perfect and mistakes do happen," Bennett said.

He continued, "If it was our fault, then I apologize sincerely. However, there may be other explanations."

At this point, Mr. Peter Hughes, Tourism Development Consultant, brought up an interesting fact.

Apparently all resort and lodge operators, etc. are mailed a questionnaire annually which they should fill out and return to the Ministry. It is from this input that the Ministry is able to make up their tourist guides and brochures. It seems that the response locally has been far from overwhelming. No viable reason could be found for this situation.

Mr. Bennett said he would help in any way possible, within reason, to assist the Haliburton Highlands to broaden their economic base, and at the same time not overlook the importance of the tourist industry.

The Minister of Industry and Tourism, Mr. Claude Bennett, tries his luck at golf during his tour of the Pinestone Inn's golf course.

Boat owners - Beware!

The Ontario Safety League, reporting on pleasure boating fatalities in Ontario during 1975 boating season, finds that the major problem facing anyone who uses a boat for fishing, hunting, canoeing, sailing, water skiing, water transportation or just plain cruising, is the possibility of drowning from one of many types of boating mishaps.

The report indicates there is some comfort for boat owners in the fact that drownings were one third less than for the previous season but this information should not lead boaters to become overconfident. The hard facts are that there were 41 persons drowned while using outboard motor boats and 20 others were drowned when their canoes overturned. Only one of the 61 people was wearing a lifejacket at the time of the fatal accidents.

The League's analysis shows that 60% of the people who drowned were mature persons of 30 years of age and over and that 49% of the accidental drownings were due to boats capsizing or swamping.

The greatest number of drownings occur in the cold water months of April, May, June, September, October and November when hypothermia is an ever-present danger. Hypothermia is the rapid loss of heat from the body's inner core and when thrown into cold water from a boat unexpectedly, a person's vitality is drained so quickly that rational thought and action are not possible, unconsciousness sets in and the person drowns.

The Ontario Safety League cautions boat owners to carefully consider how to avoid tragedy by reviewing these major causes of accidental mishaps:

* Lifejackets or Personal Flotation Devices that are used as seat cushions are difficult to put on when you are in the water. They should be worn at all times when boating.

* Improper loading and overloading of people, equipment and supplies in a small boat or canoe will cause the vessel to capsize or swamp should a sudden squall arise or if someone shifts their weight suddenly. Keep loads light, well distributed and low so that the centre of gravity is low. Know the weather you are likely to encounter and make for the nearest shore if the weather deteriorates.

* Overpowering your boat with too large a motor for its size is not only against the law, it is a foolhardy practice. Many fatal accidents are caused by sudden turns at high speed. The maximum horsepower and load is listed on the capacity plate of all outboard motor boat hulls.

* Starting a motor frequently throws people into the water. Make sure the clutch is neutral and the throttle is in the 'start' position.

* Maintenance of equipment is a must for all boat owners. Holes in hulls and motors that fail can cause swamping. A little bit of care and a lot of caution, by maintaining equipment regularly will prevent the problem.

Boating can be a fun way of enjoying the summer. Make sure you do by wearing a lifejacket.

Monmouth Senior Citizens mark first anniversary

A special dinner celebrating the first anniversary of the formation of the Monmouth Senior Citizen's Club was held by the club at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre in Wilberforce on Tuesday, June 29th, at 6 p.m. The delicious dinner consisting of cold sliced turkey and ham, rolls, salads, and fresh strawberries and ice cream was enjoyed by approximately one hundred members and special guests who were instrumental and helped in the formation of the club a year ago. A large cake suitably decorated in honour of the occasion was on display during the dinner and was later cut and served as part of the dessert.

The president, Jim Ross, gave the welcoming address and thanked the guests for their foresight in seeing the need for the formation of the club which is growing and proving to be so successful. Other speakers on behalf of the club were George Grant and Eric Andrews.

After dinner a "singsong" and entertainment by local talent was enjoyed by all. The activities which followed this consisted of card games, carpet bowling, and dancing. Everyone was having such a good time that after a satisfying meal the evening of fun and entertainment seemed to end all too soon.

The appreciation and thanks of the club is extended to the committee with Mrs. Chalmers as convener who worked so hard in planning, arranging, preparing and serving the dinner. In the opinion of all, their efforts were a huge success.

By the way, interested Seniors and friends, don't forget that you are welcome at the "drop-in" at the centre in Wilberforce every Tuesday morning from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. This is in conjunction with the regular meetings held Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m.

National Trust purchase of H. Keith Real Estate completed

All remaining details relating to National Trust's purchase of the H. Keith Real Estate business in this area and across Ontario have been settled, and that the new ownership is now official.

Jack Huston, manager of the (National Trust/former H. Keith) Real Estate office in Lindsay sees the acquisition as an opportunity to broaden the company's Ontario sales reach. He said that "the merging of H. Keith's and National Trust's real estate operations places us in a strong position to expand our coverage of markets in Ontario and across Canada."

Jack Huston also stated that the major position held by Keith in the real estate market, combined with National Trust's position as a major trust company with strong financial and management resources, means that "we are now able to offer a complete package of real estate services and financing that is second to none."

The Keith acquisition gives National Trust the second largest real estate branch network in Canada.

Life for Officers easy at Penetanguishene

A foot soldier stationed at an isolated military garrison, such as the post established at Penetanguishene in 1828, had little time to involve himself in recreational activity. His day often began at 5 a.m. But for the officers at Penetanguishene, life was much easier.

It was so easy that you might say commissioned men found time for work only when social activities were not scheduled. Their work, training and commanding the rank and file, was looked upon as an intrusion on their lifestyle.

The contrast between the life of an officer and a regular soldier was evident in the living quarters provided at the Penetanguishene site, on the southern shores of Georgian Bay. The restored Officers' Quarters can be viewed by visitors to the Historic Naval and Military Establishments at Penetanguishene, open every day this summer from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The soldiers' stone barracks contrasted markedly to the Officers' Quarters. It was designed to accommodate 140 men and measured 111' by 39', giving each soldier roughly 30 square feet of floorspace. The Officers' Quarters, on the other hand, was built to accommodate only three men, while offering 800 square feet of floorspace per man.

The Officers' Quarters is a living example of the opulent life commissioned men enjoyed. One storey in height, it contains two bedrooms, sitting room, a kitchen, a mess room, two small servants' rooms, a pantry and a cellar.

The officers spent much of their leisure time in these quarters. After a typically hearty meal, the officer had two alternatives. One was to retire to his room. The other - a visit to the library.

There was, however, no library facility available to the soldier, although that was not overly important. Few of them could read anyway.

It was just as well. If he had been able to look through an 1815 edition of Encyclopedia Britannica, some of the information he found would have done little to improve his mind.

He would have read, among other things, that "...temperance is the true foundation of health.... it is safer to indulge to excess in drink however, rather than meat, and if the debauch should create any pain or sickness, there are two ways of shaking it off." The first suggestion seems reasonable: retire to a bed. The second was a little less scientific: "Get on horseback, and, by brisk exercise, restore the body to its natural state."

The literate soldier would have learned there were seven planets in the solar system. Earth, Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Venus, Mercury and Georgium Sidus. Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto had not yet been discovered, since optics were not in an advanced state at the time. Nonetheless, the source had enough confidence to state that "all planets have waters, seas, as well as dry land, and hence it seems highly probable that the other planets have their animal inhabitants as well."

The encyclopedia suggests two cures for nymphomania. The first was bloodletting, still employed by many physicians of the period. The other cure: Matrimony.

Finally, an affliction that, although probably not noted in 20th century medical journals, but nonetheless real for the lonesome soldier posted at Penetanguishene, was Nostalgia - A Vehement Desire to Revisit One's Country.

Gems of Truth

THE SPREADING FLAME

The Stoning of Stephen was the beginning of a great persecution that arose against the Church. Acts 7:54-60, 8:1-3. Saul of Tarsus, a young Pharisee who was the chief instrument of Satan gave his full hearted consent to the stoning of Stephen. Furthermore, the Record states that "he made havoc of the Church", entering into every house, haling men and women committed them to prison, 8:3. This simply means that Saul was out to completely destroy or annihilate the believers on the Lord Jesus Christ. He was a fierce and violent persecutor of Christianity.

Because of this fierce onslaught against the "Early Church", the believers or disciples were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria. Only the Apostles remained in Jerusalem. How they escaped the carnage at this time must have been by Divine intervention and protection. We do read that sometime later James was put to death by the command of Herod the Roman Governor. Acts 12:1-3. By the same decess Peter was cast into prison but was delivered by the "Hand of God". Acts 12:5-12.

The scattered believers who fled the confines of Jerusalem, nevertheless did not do so in silence. The message of "Salvation" was burning in their hearts and Scripture states that these went everywhere preaching the "Word". Acts 8:4. Apparently the Lord of the Church allowed the persecution to move His people beyond the borders of Jerusalem. His foretold plan for the Church had been that the message of grace to sinners should reach the uttermost part of the earth. The ordinary believer was the vessel He was going to use for this, not only the Apostles. Acts 1.8. The Apostles were the background pillars who guarded the doctrine of the new revelation of the Lord God regards His new people, the Church. It is thus that Ephesians 2:20 proclaims the basic structure of that people. The Apostolic element was not a continuing and unbroken heritage as some claim.

It was the scattered believers, just the ordinary Christian, which the Lord used and is using today to spread the Gospel to all the ends of the earth. In the days of the Early Church, the flames of revival spread like as if a stone had been thrown into a heap of smoldering embers. The sparks flew in every direction! The Jew was no longer the only one who could claim to be God's child. The Lord of the Church permitted persecution to carry the "preaching of the Word" far and wide.

The first soil it landed on beyond the borders of Judaism, was Samaria. This ground had already been touched and prepared for a great harvest by the Lord Jesus Himself. John 4:6-39. These Samaritans were the dwellers in upper Palestine and had been regarded by devout Jews as unfit for Gods use. They were a mixed race, having become thus by the removal of the people of the northern Kingdom in Israel by Gentile conquerors. They lost their pure Jewish background in the process, as Israel was re-populated by imported Gentiles. The result was a mixed race and they were first in line of having the Gospel message proclaimed to them and be the recipients of its blessing. Later, that same message was to be carried into complete Gentile territory which includes the term "unto the uttermost part of the earth" Acts 1.8.

As the Samaritans were confronted with the message of sins forgiven by the One who took them upon Himself at Calvary, many believed and were saved. The prominent figure in this new field of service was the man Philip of Acts 8:5. This same man had been called to serve as a distributor of goods to the needy widows. Acts 6:1-7. The Church now having been scattered that particular need ended, so the Lord of the Church moved him out as a spokesman for Him. This new call to service was greatly blessed by the Lord as Philip had only one message to give and that message is stated plainly in Acts 8:5. It simply states that Philip went down to Samaria and "preached Christ unto them." This is the message that the Lord honors to this day. Why use any other?

Local Gideons

report successful year

The fiscal year ending May 30th of the Haliburton Highland Gideons was celebrated by a joint meeting with the Lindsay Gideons in the form of a fellowship supper at Miner's Bay Lodge on June 14th.

Since the Haliburton Camp is an outgrowth of the Lindsay Camp this yearly event keeps the bonds of Christian fellowship and service to the Lord in unbroken united efforts to place the Scriptures at the public's convenience.

In 1969 the Haliburton County members of the Lindsay Camp became a new Camp thus operating on their own. There were six members in the Haliburton Camp at this initial opening on June 23rd, 1969. To-day there are twelve and they are scattered throughout the County from East to West.

They meet once a month for prayer and fellowship and business. The fiscal year 1975-76 has been a very profitable one in raising funds for Scripture placement around the world. The Camp owes a debt of gratitude to its many supporters who share in this great work. Total revenues received this fiscal year was $4,110.08. The Memorial Bible plan is freely used by many in times of bereavement and the new "Sow Plan" is gaining popularity for any special occasion as birthdays, anniversaries, graduation, etc. and we would encourage such lasting honorary donations.

The second annual Gideon Banquet open to the public will be held on October 2nd with Walter Sprague of New Brunswick being the guest speaker. Mark this date on your calendar now and plan to attend. The need of Quebec will be the focal point of interest in this year's planning as the Gideons in that province are pleading for help to enter the doors so long closed to the Word of God.

New members in the Gideon ministry are most welcome. The standard to enter this fellowship is the Biblical one of being a born-again Christian and willing to live up to the call to serve the Lord who saved them. Perhaps He would want you to volunteer your services in this great and rewarding task of making His Word available to those who have never had the chance to know the way of Life.

Church of Scientology

Registration of the Church's symbols

The national office of the Church of Scientology in Canada has announced the registration of the Church's symbols with the Federal Registrar of Trademarks in Hull, Quebec.

The symbols involved are the 8 pointed cross and a double triangle with a large 'S' super imposed over it.

The cross has been used by the Church in Canada since 1954 on books, certificates, magazines, bulletins and printed material. Its origins lie back in the depths of history, the main vertical bar representing the spirit rising up over the limitations of the physical universe, represented by the large horizontal bar.

The eight points represent the driving forces in a person's life: one for self, two for family, three for his group, four for all mankind, right through to eight which is the infinite or God dynamic.

The cross is worn by Scientology ministers around the neck on a silver chain, and hangs just below the collar, silver against the black stock.

The double triangle, with the large 'S' for Scientology, links two triangles: the three corners of the upper stand for K-R-C, knowledge, responsibility, and control. The lower triangle, A-R-C, stands for affinity, reality and communication.

The Scientologists believe that an improvement in affinity or liking leads to an increase in reality or agreement. Thus better communication takes place, leading to greater understanding between all concerned.

Founded in 1953, the Church of Scientology had expanded to some 4.1 million members by 1971, with just over 100,000 in Canada today. In August this year 10,000 plus Scientologists from all over the world are expected to gather in Anaheim, L.A., for Scientology's first international conference on world peace and social reform.

Mr. Earl Smith, spokesman for the Church stated, "Religion is a part of living. Our religion has grown because we are effective in society, and in helping the individual we help create a safe environment for people and their children."

"The International conference will demonstrate publicly our trust in the integrity of our fellow man."
